

Product End of Life (EOL) Notification

(Notification on termination of Samsung SSD 850 PRO – 128GB)

June 30th, 2016

To whom it may concern,

This letter is to inform you that Samsung Electronics (hereafter referred to as: “the company, “we”, “us” or “our”) plans to execute an End of Life (EOL) process for the ‘Samsung SSD 850 PRO’ 128GB variant (see below for specific model codes). After a thorough review of our existing product offering we have decided to discontinue this product in order to provide you with more advanced solutions.

We sincerely appreciate your use of this terminated product, and your kind understanding for any inconveniences caused by this termination. We hope that this notification provides you with sufficient time to complete existing projects and shift future designs to one of our other advanced solutions. Please note that, if EOL occurs prior to the expiration of the warranty period, we reserve the right to service this warranty with replacement parts.

Please contact your Samsung SSD representative with any questions or concerns regarding this matter.

Thanks for your understanding and we look forward to working with you on other alternatives of Samsung's SSD products.
